A MAN'S RIGHT TO HAPPINESS: The New Playbook for Living a Private, Financially Free, Healthy, and Prosperous Life In Today's Changing America

It's a veritable treasure chest of 101 tips, tricks, and loop-holes for surviving and thriving in what was once a free country. Gives you an unfair advantage to succeed, despite the efforts of politicians to micro-manage your life. Yours FREE!

Dear Friend:

Obama wasn't kidding when he said, "Change has come to America."

Today – this is a country that's very different from the original idea of America.

The shining beacon of freedom has been replaced by dimly lit rooms filled with NSA agents snooping on your calls, your emails, every step you take online.

Soon, some 30,000 domestic drones could fill American skies. It's likely your local police department will get one if they haven't already. (Paid in large part by Homeland Security grants.)

There are now more Americans in jail than there were people in the Soviet Union's concentration camps.

Most government agencies, including the Department of Education have their own SWAT team. Since the '70's there were a few hundred SWAT raids annually. Now that number has swelled to more than 50,000 SWAT raids per year – most of these raids are for non-violent crimes.

A 961-page law called Obamacare that 54% of Americans oppose – now dictates how you and your doctor are allowed to treat your body.

The way we invest has changed too.

That's because the Federal Government reworks statistics to give the appearance of an economic recovery.

Did you know, for instance, that the government doesn't actually count all unemployed in their unemployment numbers?

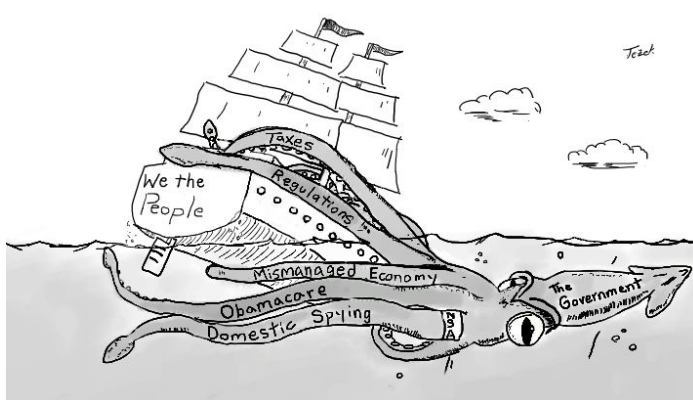

Or that they exclude certain rising food costs when they report their rosy inflation statistics?

Or that they manipulate interest rates to make the stock market look like it's going up?

Most people haven't a clue this manipulation exists. And they recklessly put their money – their happiness – at risk by not knowing the truth.

My point is simple – if it feels like you're being squeezed from every angle by the government in your pursuit of the American dream – it's because you are!

That's why what worked for your grand-parents to attain the American dream now only gets you to the 30-yard line. It's not enough.

Hello, my name is Doug Hill.

It's this intrusion that strips you of your privacy, over-taxes you, hinders your investment returns, threatens your healthcare, and reduces your quality of life.

Instead of just complaining about it ... my team of experts and I have done something about it by creating a blockbuster book that's loaded with solutions that could advance you in life and empower you to escape free from government creep.

This book is aptly titled, A Man's Right to Happiness.

It's likely the only book of its kind that shows you how to reclaim your privacy ... lower your tax burden ... build wealth through shrewd investment opportunities ... better manage your money and credit ... succeed in business ... and bolster your health and more.

Open up your copy of this book, and you'll be treated to forbidden secrets that the people in power would prefer you never see. Why is that? Two words

- PERSONAL EMPOWERMENT! -

Your personal empowerment threatens their control over your life.

That's because a well-educated, lucid, and observant populace keeps politicians accountable. It's to the advantage of politicians that people are dumbed down, phlegmatic, distracted by celebrities ↓... and dependent on government programs.

It's all part of the system they've established. It's why disgraced politicians, embroiled in scandal with a lousy track record keep winning elections.

But none of that matters ... because I'm going to show you a way to break free from their system and advance in life ... no matter what "regime" runs the government.

This is the new playbook for succeeding in every area of your life.

And it epitomizes the goal of our organization The Laissez Faire Club which stands for "leave it be."

Now I'm about to show you some shocking stuff that will absolutely amaze and startle you. So turn your phone off, lock the door, and listen closely because this will be absolutely life-changing for you ... that I certainly promise.

After that, I'll show you how to get your FREE copy of A Man's Right to Happiness. I'll even pay the shipping cost for you.

Well, it's not some type of cult book. It's not anything illegal. And it's not something you can buy on Amazon or in any bookstore.

In fact, it's not available for purchase at all. Not at any price.

What this is ... is a very special and unique book that reveals some slightly strange success tricks that are outside of the mainstream.

- ... Homeland Security
- ... Trans-national corporations
- ... Big Pharma
- ... The media syndicate
- ... And corporate big whigs

But you'll absolutely love these tricks because they'll show you how to ...

- ✓ Grow your wealth, TAX-FREE in some cases, all outside of Wall Street schemes
- ✓ How to obtain world-class healthcare, and save money during the age of Obamacare
- ✓ How to give yourself a "health make-over," without ever stepping foot in a doctor's office. Even if you're 40, you'll feel like you're 20 again. Fit and full of vitality and in glistening good health.
- ✓ Fascinating "hacks" that could make you so much more productive and more effective in your life, while saving you $1000s each year on your cost of living
- ✓ New ways to cut your tax bill to the absolute lowest legal minimum, so you only pay what you owe, and not a penny more

Some of these tips could save you $1,000s this year.

Other tips will show you how to potentially make $1,000s this year.

And ALL the tips show you how to live a healthy, wealthy, private life that you – and YOU ONLY – control.

As long as you respond quickly, I'm happy to send you this new book with my compliments. Free of charges.

Let me explain...

Hello, my name is Doug Hill
I'm the editor of the Laissez Faire Club.

The name stands for "Leave us be."

Our organization doesn't do anything illegal.

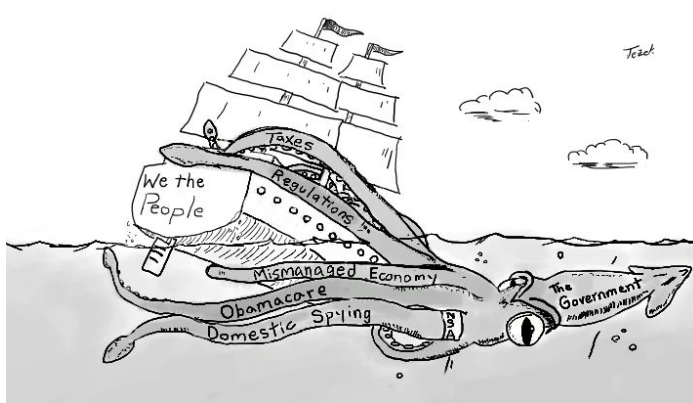

We simply believe in the original idea of America; the rights to individual liberty and privacy.

We believe you're smart enough to make your own decisions, and reap your own rewards, without government and corporate America micro-managing you.

We've created the Laissez Faire Club with one big goal in mind:

To deliver to our readers a blueprint for shrewd investment and personal health choices that work in this changing America.

Like most people, we have been growing increasingly uncomfortable with all of the new rules, regulations, and changes that affect our daily lives.

Commented [TM22]: What's the source for this illustration?
FOR LEGAL: drawn by the copywriter himself

Commented [TM23]: Coolio

Instead of complaining about “government creep” into everyone’s daily lives, we decided to do something about it.

That’s when I got my team of experts together and created a book jam-packed with the juiciest, most potent, never-before seen success tricks that are specifically designed for getting ahead in today’s changing America.

On our board of experts we have a three-time best-selling author and filmmaker, one of the world’s leading privacy attorneys, and a billionaire publishing icon.

We also have one of America’s most trusted tax experts – a man that’s helped more than 23,000 people slash their taxes to the lowest legal minimum.

And we have one of the most cutting-edge healthcare entrepreneurs, whose ideas and help have literally saved the lives of more than 10,000 people.

All told, our expert panel has written three best sellers. They’ve appeared in television numerous times. And they’ve written hundreds of articles, all devoted to showing people like you and me how to live a more prosperous and independent life.

Now, for the first time ever, we’ve compiled ALL their best ideas into one place. It’s all in your FREE copy of our new book, A Man’s Right to Happiness.

Forbidden Secrets that Obama and Congress Hope You’ll Never See!

It’s likely the only book of its kind that shows you:

- ✓ how to reclaim your privacy ...
- ✓ lower your tax burden ...
- ✓ build wealth through shrewd investments ...
- ✓ better manage your money and credit ...
- ✓ how to succeed in business ...
- ✓ How to bolster your health ...
- ✓ Become invisible to the NSA’s domestic spy program

And that’s why I truly believe our new book titled A Man’s Right to Happiness could soon be banned.

Homeland Security, the NSA, IRS ... or some other alphabet agency ... is probably going to swoop down on us. If that happens, this book is lost forever.

So if you're interested in claiming your FREE copy, you must let me know today. I have my fulfillment team on standby, waiting for your permission to put this soon-to-be blockbuster book into your hands.

Now, maybe you're wondering why on earth would we be attracting this kind of attention?

Well, the best way to answer that question is to simply show you what you'll find inside this book. Starting with some ideas that the snoops at the NSA aren't going to like...

Get off the Surveillance and Control Grid Without Moving to a Cabin in the Woods

(By the way, this isn't some guns and bunkers organization.
Most of my staff and I live in normal suburbs.)

The America we all grew up in and loved offered the blessing of privacy. Now that has changed due to the National Security Agency's (NSA) domestic spying program.

I'm going to show you how to make yourself virtually invisible to the NSA as well as other agencies that snoop on citizens. So why is this necessary?

Perhaps you've heard politicians say of the NSA spy program, "If you have nothing to hide or you're not doing anything wrong then there's nothing to worry about."

At first glance, that seems reasonable. But did you realize, that same propaganda was broadcast by Hitler's Nazi party to cow German citizens into submission and fear?

Fact is, every week you're probably breaking one or two laws whether you realize it or not, according to a study.

In particular ...

Something you've said over the phone, in an email, a text, or online posting could one day be construed as hate speech, subversive, or give a government agency probable cause to send a SWAT team bursting through your door at 1:30 am in the morning.

Now, I realize that may sound unbelievable. But remember, there were close to 50,000 SWAT raids last year alone. Many of which were due to "non-violent crimes."

Commented [m27]: Here's where both leads meet up.

Commented [m28]: <http://lifelacker.com/588488/how-youre-breaking-the-law-every-day-and-what-you-can-do-about-it>

http://www.salon.com/2013/07/13/radley_balko_once_a_town_gets_a_swat_team_you_want_to_use_it/

So even though it may sound strange to you now, something you may have said in the past could be used against you as evidence of some obscure law that you broke.

That's why it's critical you keep your life as private as possible. I'll show you a few simple ways to do that in a moment.

First, here's something else I want you to think about.

A simple Google search by an employee or friend on your computer could cause the police to pay you a visit ... just like what happened to a Long Island, New York couple weeks after the Boston bombings.

The wife searched for information on pressure cookers for cooking lentils and not long after that, her husband searched for backpacks online for their kids.

Soon after a SWAT team had their house surrounded.

Stop for a moment and think about the implications of that.

You now live in a world where a Google or Bing search can easily trigger the attention of law enforcement ... or at the very least put you on some "list."

That's the bad news. The good news is A Man's Right to Happiness will show you several work-arounds that could make sure the NSA and other Federal Agencies aren't tracking you.

And don't worry, you don't need to be a techy or computer expert to put these tips to work. We've designed all of these to be incredibly easy to implement.

You'll learn ...

- The single biggest privacy mistake most people make every single day, opening themselves up for hackers and prying eyes... without ever realizing it. (See page XX.)
- Why logging onto your computer the way the software companies want you to log in actually exposes your computer to being hacked by NSA snoops. (See page XX.)
- The one simple and easy move you must make when you log onto your computer. This tip allows you to build castle like walls around your emails and private browsing activity. (See page XX.)

- An "every-man's" do it yourself way to put an impenetrable wall around your computer. (See page XX.)

Of course, these simple tips to increase your privacy in an increasingly prying America are just one the many chapters you'll find inside your copy of A Man's Right to Happiness.

Here's something else I think you'll find useful ...

Obama's Plans To Spread Your Wealth Around...

Here's How to Keep More of Your Hard-Earned Money!

Most people don't know this, but according to the Office of Management and Budget, 62 percent of the federal budget goes to entitlements.

Entitlements are just a fancy way to say food stamps, Obamaphones (a free cell phone plan for low income people which includes 250 free minutes a month) and the various other welfare programs.

Now, I have no problem with providing for people in need. But I don't think it's the government's role to force you and I to do so.

That's absolutely outrageous don't you agree?

Listen, my point is this – with Obama's administration in office, the welfare programs show no signs of slowing down.

And with more than half of America receiving handouts, how can we ever expect to vote these policies out of power?

That's why we're going to continue to be financially raped in an effort for the government to provide for those in "so-called" need.

We'll be taxed, regulated, fined – you name it. That's on top of already high taxes.

Consider that, on average, you and I work an entire week each month just to cover the taxes the Federal Government demands.

You, like me, probably don't want to just hand your money away like that.

Fortunately there are some tax dodges and tricks you can do to slash your taxes to the absolute legal minimum.

I believe it's your duty to do this, for the future success and legacy you leave to your family.

And don't worry; these tips are all "by the book," and won't get you in trouble with any regulators.

We show you what they are, and how to take advantage of them in your free copy of A Man's Right To Happiness. Let me show you some of these right now...

This book and the tax slashing ideas inside could mean a fat refund check instead of a tax bill for you!

Again, everything you'll see is 100% legal, for now.

It's as simple as thousands of dollars back in your pocket, legally, for following the tax code to the letter.

I can't stress this enough – this is YOUR money. Don't you have a moral obligation to you and your family to keep as much of it as possible?

This book lays out a detailed blueprint for how to save thousands, legally.

As you can imagine, this is dangerous information in the eyes of the Federal Government whose goal is to extract as much money out of you as they can.

That's why I wouldn't be surprised to see a "cease and desist letter" arrive in my office any day now – forcing me to pull this letter offline.

And that's also why I'm standing by to reserve your FREE copy of A Man's Right to Happiness.

I'll show you how at the end of this presentation.

Now here's something that may seriously shock you ...

You Might Live in a
"No-Constitution Zone"
Where Your Rights Have Been Suspended!

Chances are, you never saw this on your local news.

If you live anywhere in the U.S., including Alaska or Hawaii and live 100 miles from the border be it the Pacific Ocean, the Atlantic Ocean, the Gulf of Mexico, the Great Lakes, Canada, or Mexico ... Homeland Security says you are currently in a "Constitution Free Zone." Your 4th Amendment rights in particular may no longer be active according to them.

Deleted: are

Since 2008, the ACLU has been digging into this matter trying to find out more through the Freedom of Information Act. So far, various law enforcement agencies, politicians, and Federal agencies are keeping this on the down low.

Think about what this means to you for a moment.

For us, it unfortunately means our Baltimore-based office is in this zone. So it looks like First Amendment rights can be re-interpreted here on the whims of Federal employees.

If you get a copy of A Man's Right to Happiness and you live in one of these no Constitution zones and this book becomes banned, may I suggest that you don't let anyone know you own this book?

There's more "HOT" information in this book.

Take for instance this little-known way to privately build wealth and "go off the grid."

Secret Currency

Deleted: the Feds Can't Touch

In 2003, our Laissez Faire Club president – a three time NYT best-selling author and Sundance award winning filmmaker – predicted the collapse of the U.S. Dollar.

Since then, there have been a lot of famous economists riding our coattails. When the dollar loses its status as the reserve currency of the world, it could become nearly worthless overnight.

And when that happens you'll be paying $8 a gallon for gas – perhaps much more and you'll wipe out most of your pay-check just to buy groceries every week. It'll be utter financial chaos for all Americans.

So it's no secret that you must get some of your wealth OUTSIDE the dollar. Owning some gold and silver is a good place to start.

Here at the Laissez Faire Club we recommend everyone hold at least 5-10% of their wealth in gold or silver.

But did you know that there is a new form of currency that's growing in popularity and traded world-wide?

Many of our members of the club have already diversified into this new currency as a way to protect themselves in the event of a U.S. dollar collapse.

Since its inception, this new currency has increased 800% in value, and if trends continue it could turn everyone's phone into a private off-shore money shelter just like the ultra-rich have.

What's more, this new type of currency allows money to pass from one party to another without a paper trail because there's no third party involved. Hence it saves you on fees associated with transaction costs as seen with credit cards or PayPal.

Additionally, this new type of currency cannot be frozen by your bank, yet it's perfectly legal. As an added benefit, it can't be stolen either.

We reveal the name of this currency, how to safely buy it, where to store it, and everything you need to immediately take advantage of it on page XX.

You can see this and so much more is in your free copy of A Man's Right to Happiness.

Stay tuned and we'll show you how to get your copy mailed to you. (I'll even cover the shipping cost.)

For now, I urge you to listen closely to this...

Getting Richer is the Best Revenge Here are Investment Opportunities that Offer Juicy Returns and Could Enable You to Retire Sooner!

We all know how big of a role psychology plays in the stock market.

But now one appearance by Ben Bernanke or Obama on TV can instantly set off a ripple that rolls right through the stock market pushing it up or all too often, downward.

Just this past June, for example, Bernanke told us that the Federal Reserve would begin pulling back its support for the economy.

Stocks fell more than 4% in the two days that followed. Billions of dollars in stock market wealth vanished instantly.

Then, in his speech a month later, Bernanke reversed his course. He told investors he'd continue to prop up the economy ... and stocks rallied by a whopping 200 points.

If you're like me, you don't want your wealth manipulated up and down on the whims of what some central banker says in his monthly speech.

And it doesn't stop there ...

A few months ago the government decided to recalculate the way it measures the total American economy. The "old" way had been around for nearly 100 years.

But it's not good enough anymore, says our elected officials.

The government also manipulates unemployment figures to look lower than they are. And they fudge the price inflation statistics to make it look like prices aren't going up.

Yeah, right.

I remember 50 cent per gallon gasoline. 25 cent movies. 10 cent cartons of milk.

Yet, according to our government, prices are "stable." Ha!

For starters ... your dollars are nearly worthless because 98% of their value has been erased due in part to inflation. During the 70’s a bottle of soda pop cost about 45 cents. Things have changed so much that if you’ll look at your computer keyboard, there is no longer a cent symbol.

You may take the mortgage interest deduction and rent your house out tax-free for up to 14 days a year. Not too many other money-making ventures allow you to make money tax-free. You cannot, however, go even one day over the 14-day rule or you not only have to claim all the rent as income, but you also lose your right to claim the mortgage interest deduction and you cannot claim business expenses or depreciation. So while the 14-day rule is a boon to homeowners, the penalty for violating the rule is severe.

Industry insiders and health professionals all agree that you can expect to wait two to three times longer than you currently do just to see your doctor.

Next, let's look at a weird way the government destroys your day to day productivity...

Why is the Government Interested in Your Toilet and Showerhead?

Although most people don't know this, many of the items in your home are highly regulated by the government.

And because of it, they don't work as well and they actually cost you more.

Case in point ...

Recently Obama has made an aggressive push to have your home appliances redesigned to meet the Energy Department's harsh new energy-efficiency standards which covers 20 different products with more on the way.

At first glance, this might seem reasonable.

But the problem is, these regulations will raise the price of appliances by more than consumers are ever to likely earn back in the form of energy savings! On top of that, it could mean these products break down more often or don't work as well.

Based upon Energy Department estimates, new water heaters and furnaces could have price hikes from $67 to $974 depending on the size and type.

This comes at a time where most Americans still can't find a job, or afford to pay their monthly mortgages.

So how on earth can they afford an even higher cost of living?

And that's just the start ...

Clothes washers were hit with a regulation in 2007 that Consumer Reports claimed "left our stain-soaked swatches nearly as dirty as they were before washing" and that "for best results, you'll have to spend $900 or more."

Back in January 2001, a last-minute Clinton regulation stipulated a new energy efficiency standard for AC units that increased their prices. They later admitted that many homeowners won't recoup the added up-front costs.

Inside your free book, A Man's Right to Happiness, you'll discover loop-holes, hacks, and work-arounds that make your appliances last longer and work more effectively like they were meant to.

You'll discover how to "Hack Your Showerhead" on page XX. There's more, too. For example ...

- A non-bleach solution found in the paint section of your hardware store that cleans your clothes and whitens them – making stains disappear in a single wash (See page XX.)

Commented [TM161]: Back-up needed for 130 degrees.
FOR LEGAL: <http://www.plumbingpro.com/water-heaters-faq/how-hot-should-i-set-the-water-heater>

The only real time that you need hot water that is more than 120 degrees is when you do the dishes. The water doesn't even need to be that hot. Hot water that registers at 130 degrees will kill bacteria that can help with the spread of germs. However, this kind of temperature for hot water is generally run through the dishwasher. While you can manually wash dishes at this water temperature, you do so at your own risk. This is because this kind of hot water can actually scald the skin.

Now, chances are you will never use ALL these tips and tricks. But even if you use just a handful, my guess is that you could save hundreds of dollars this year.

That’s on top of the $2,500 you could legally save in taxes this same year.

And it’s also on top of the $52,000 in healthcare savings.

But if you made it this far, you know this book is bigger than just money saving tips.

This book could save you frustration. It could give you peace of mind, knowing that you’re in control of your life.

And that’s something we can’t put a price tag on. Wouldn’t you agree?

All these secrets, and more, are in your free copy A Man’s Right to Happiness.

State bureaucrats are in on the micro-managing action too. And sometimes, they can be worse than the Federal government, banning your collection of rain water, fining you for cutting a tree that's about to fall on your home, or prohibiting the selling of large soda drinks. (Places like Oregon, California, and New York City especially come to mind.)

10. Swimming pool. A taxpayer with emphysema put in a pool after his doctor told him to develop an exercise regime. He swam in it twice a day and improved his breathing capacity. Turns out he swam in the pool more than his family did. The Tax Court allowed him to deduct the cost of the pool (to the extent the cost exceeded its added value to the property) as a medical expense because its primary purpose was for medical care. Also, the cost of heating the pool, pool chemicals and a proportionate part of insuring the pool area are treated as medical expenses.

7. Personal bad debts

If you lent money and didn't get it back, you may qualify for a tax deduction. There are restrictions: You must be able to prove that the money was a loan and not a gift, and you must claim the bad debt on your tax return to offset any investment capital gains.

<http://boardroomdenver.com/secret-tax-deductions-revealed>

1. Automobile expenses incurred driving to and from medical procedures. You can deduct 19 cents per mile driven to doctor's offices, hospitals, out-patient care facilities, etc., if the mileage is "primarily for, and essential to, medical care" (according to the IRS). You can deduct mileage whether you drive yourself or your dependents. Remember to keep scrupulous mileage records throughout the year. <http://boardroomdenver.com/secret-tax-deductions-revealed>

2. Make money on charitable contributions

Internal Revenue Code Section 280(A)(g) -- for those who want to look it up -- says you can rent out your house for up to 14 days in a calendar year and all the income comes to you tax-free. Go beyond the 14 days, and everything becomes taxable.

Now this is what you do:

1. Rent out your house to a qualified charity or church for a meeting once a month. Call a local hotel and get their rates for a conference room to establish a fair rental amount. Say that's $5,000 for the monthly use over the year. Since we have only 12 months, this monthly use will add up to less than 14 days out of the year, so all the rental income is tax-free.

2. In appreciation for all the good works the charity or church does, and not in exchange for the rental, you make a deductible contribution of $6,000. You're in the 25% bracket, so that saves you $1,500 in federal taxes. What's the result? The charity spent $5,000 and got $6,000. It's up $1,000. You contributed $6,000 and got $5,000 in tax-free cash, plus another $1,500 in tax saving

s. You're up $500. Isn't tax magic wonderful?

$250,000 Exclusion on the Sale of a Main Home

Individuals can exclude up to $250,000 in profit from the sale of a main home (or $500,000 for a married couple) as long as you have owned the home and lived in the home for a minimum of two years. Those two years do not need to be consecutive. In the 5 years prior to the sale of the house, you need to have lived in the house for at least 24 months in that 5-year period. In other words, the home must have been your principal residence.

FOR LEGAL: As for the 100 year claim ... the US GDP records go back to 1792 which is more than 100 years.

http://www.usgovernmentspending.com/spending_chart_1792_2010USb_15s2li011mcn_US_Gross_Domestic_Product_GDP_History

The links in my comment (on the sales letter) pertain to news stories about how the GDP calculation methodology has been revised.

Put both together and it supports the claim.

Is there back-up for $10,000 or more?

FOR LEGAL: these numbers are based on selling put options. For example, if you were to sell an January 2016 Apple Put Option at a strike price of $490.00, you'd receive a premium of $11,735 up front. <http://finance.yahoo.com/q/op?s=AAPL&m=2016-01>

Revised the number down to 25,000. A handful of these options will generate income without having to buy a stock.

About Sodium Hydroxide used as a Drain Cleaner

Sodium Hydroxide was once sold as Red Devil Lye in stores, but is no longer being marketed by that company. Red Hot Devil Lye distributed by Duda Diesel is now the red Devil Lye replacement.

Sodium hydroxide lye reacts with fats and greases when combined with water to make soap. It is a strong base and effective when attacking clogged drains. Sodium Hydroxide is naturally occurring and is sewer and septic safe as it is diluted in its journey down your pipes. Though not as effective as sulfuric acid, it is safer and easier to use. If you get dry sodium hydroxide on your skin, it will not burn unless a small amount of moisture is present. Just wash it off immediately and burns will be minimal.

Potassium hydroxide may also be used in drain opening. It is a bit more expensive but dissolves into water faster and usually clears the drain quicker. It is best when drains are very clogged.

Advice is to buy a little at a time throughout the year even if you don't need it so you'll have it when you need it most.
